 Captain George Robert Beresford entered the celebrated Connaught Rangers, 17th October, 1851 ; lieutenant, 18th August, 1854 ; captain, 21st May, 1855 ; placed on half pay, 17th July, 1857, having exchanged to the 7th Foot. Hart says (p. 486, Army List, 1862), "Captain Beresford served with the 88th Regt. the Eastern campaign of 1854-55, including the battles of Alma and Inkermann, Siege of Sebastopol, attacks on the quarries and attack on the Redan, on the 18th of June and 8th Sept. ; severely wounded (Medal and clasps. Knight of the Legion of Honour, and Turkish Medal)."

78 Egypt, 1882, Medal, no bar (1944, Private C. Gibbons, 1st R. Sussex Regiment) ; also his Khedive's Bronze Star (inscribed, "1944. C. G. 1st. Bn. The. R. S. Regt.") He died after the campaign 2

79 The Afghanistan War Medal, 1878-79-80, no bar (1824, Private F. Wills, 70th Foot) ; also his Egypt Medal, with one clasp, Suakin, 1885 (824, Pte. F. Wills, 2nd East Surrey Regiment), in splendid condition 2

 He was a native of a village near Blandford, Dorset, where, after the Suakin campaign, he pawned his medals. They are curious as shewing the change of the old title of "70th Foot" to the territorial one of "The East Surrey," also the regimental number of the soldier was changed.

80 Indian Mutiny Medal, no bar (Drummer John Allen, 80th Regiment). India, "General Service" Medal, one clasp, "Bhootan" (4202, Corporal J. Allen, H.M.'s 80th Regiment). The Soldiers' Total Abstinence Association, India, Medal for "Five Years' Fidelity" (the octagonal pointed star). The India "General Service" Medal, one clasp, "Perak" (4202, Colour-Sergeant J. Allen, 80th Foot). The "Long Service and Good Conduct" Medal (4202, Sergeant-Major J. Allen, 80th Foot); and the "Zulu" South African War Medal, one clasp, "1878" (4202, Sergt.-Major J. Allen, 80th Foot). A most unique, rare and highly interesting lot 6

 Allen entered the army as a drummer boy the year previous to the Indian Mutiny, where he won his first medal, gaining his second as corporal, his third (temperance medal) as sergeant, his fourth as colour-sergeant, and his fifth and sixth as sergeant-major of his regiment! He served for 22 years, and only died in 1885, near Portsmouth, sincerely respected and regretted. The fact of his being awarded two separate "India General Service" medals, each with a clasp, is probably unique, and makes this lot especially valuable, the usual practice being to merely add an extra clasp.

81 Crimean War Medal, three clasps, "Alma, Inkerman, Sebastopol" (Private J. Franklin, 23rd Regiment); also his Turkish Crimean War Medal (British flag predominant), inscribed (Private J. Frank*ham*, 1/23rd R. W. Fusiliers), but as these medals were all issued without names, errors in the spelling often occur 2

 This man has added a "fancy" silver clasp, engraved, with pin, to each riband of his medals. The 23rd won undying glory at the Alma, and suffered terribly, losing their colonel and eight officers, and being brought out of action by captain (Bell), who captured the only gun taken, winning his V. C.

82 Indian Mutiny Medal, no clasp (Robert Chick, 35th Regt.); also his "Long Service and Good Conduct" Medal (1547, R. Chick, 1st Battalion 7th Foot) 2

83 "Egypt, 1882," Medal, three clasps, "Tel-el-Kebir, Suakin 1884, Tamai"; also his Khedive's Bronze Star, inscribed with name, many were issued without names, similarly to the Turkish medals in the Crimea (2009, Private T. Lambert, 2nd Battn. Manchester Regiment), a scarce combination of clasps 1

 The medal (without the star) sold, in these rooms, two years ago, for £1 15s. Lambert was very badly wounded at Tamai, invalided to England, bought his discharge and emigrated to America, disposing of his medals there.

84 The Punjaub Campaign Medal, two clasps, "Chilianwala, Goojerat" (Hospital Sergeant I. Searle, 14th Light Dragoons). Indian Mutiny Medal, one clasp, "Central India" (Hospl. Sergt. I. Searle, 14th Lgt. Drgns.). India, "General Service," one clasp, "Persia" (Hospl. Sergt. I. Searle, 14th King's Lt. Dgns.). The "Soldiers' Total Abstinence Association, India"; small lozenge-shaped Medal (unengraved, these medals seldom are). Medal for "Long Service and Good Conduct" (797, Troop Sergeant Major I. Searle, 14th Hussars); and his Medal for "Meritorious Service" (Troop Sergt. Mjr. Isaac Searle, 14th Hussars). Valuable, rare and interesting lot, in fine condition 6

 Interesting on account of the regiments becoming "Hussars" from "Dragoons" during Isaac Searle's service. Remarkable also for his possessing both the rare "meritorious service" and the "long service" medals. Carter, "Medals of the British Army," p. 175, says: "The medal inscribed 'for meritorious service' cannot be held together with that for 'good conduct and long service,' but the latter must be surrendered on receipt of the former." By Royal Warrant of December 4th, 1854, it was commanded that one sergeant in each cavalry corps serving in the Crimea should be recommended for the "meritorious" medal, and this has afterwards extended to services rendered in India.

At Goojerat "the determined front shown by the 14th Light Dragoons completely overawed their opponents, and contributed much to the success of the day."—Carter.

85 The Indian Mutiny Medal, no clasp (Lewis Fynn, 17th Lancers); the Crimean-Turkish Medal, Sardinian flag predominant (L. Lynn, 17th Lancers); the "Long Service and Good Conduct" Medal (1119, Pte. Lewis Lynn, 5th Lancers) 3

 He served with the 17th Lancers in the Crimea and rode in the Balaclava "charge of the 600," and received the Crimean Medal with four clasps. Captain Kennedy purchased these medals at a jewellers in Knightsbridge, who had sold this man's "4 bar Crimean medal" the day previously to a lady to be made into a brooch. Lynn was wounded at Balaclava.

86 The Afghanistan War Medal "1878-79-80," two clasps "Kabul Kandahar" (886, Private H. Wells, 9th Lancers); also his "Roberts' Bronze Star," for the forced march from Kabul to Kandahar, 1880 (also incribed on back), in mint state, very fine and scarce, only one cavalry regiment receiving the star 2

87 The French Military Decoration "Valeur et Discipline," known as the "MEDAILE MILITAIRE, given for special and distinguished services of gallantry in the Crimea to only 250 British non-commissioned officers and men by the Emperor of the French; the Crimean War Medal, three clasps, "Balaclava, Inkermann, Sebastopol;" also the Turkish-Crimean Medal (Sardinian flag predominating) (1802, Colour-Sergeant John Jones, 57th Regt.), rare and interesting lot 3

 Carter (part I, p. 135) says "Fifty-seventh Regiment. Colour-Serjeant John Jones received the Medaile Militaire for gallant conduct at the battle of Inkermann, where he was severely wounded.

88 The Egyptian Medal for "1882," and two clasps, "Suakin, 1885, Tofrek" (2186, Drummer W. Irwin, 1 Berkshire Regiment); also his Khedive's Bronze Star (W. Irwin, Berks. Regt.), Tofrek is rare 2

96 General Service, 1848. Single clasp, "Centaur, 26 Augt. 1808" (J. E. Walcott, master's mate), a fine, extremely rare and interesting medal 1

 John Edward Walcott was born at Christchurch, Hants, and as a lad ran away from home and entered the Royal Navy, in which he first served before the mast in 1801. He became master's mate in 1808, in which year he served under Rear-Admiral Sir Samuel Hood in the engagement with the Russian fleet and capture of the 74-gun ship Sewolod in Hango Bay. He became an officer shortly afterwards, and served with distinction, eventually attaining the rank of Admiral. On his retirement from active service, he represented his native town in Parliament for many years, and died full of years at Winckton House, Christchurch, in 1872. In the King's Arms Hotel in this town is an original oil painting of this distinguished officer in his Admiral's uniform, and wearing this identical medal.
